The Very Hungry Caterpillar Show at the Al Green Theatre

This is the front of the theatre for
'The Very Hungry Caterpillar Show'

Before the show starts, you might need to go to the Box Office to get your tickets.

You might need to wait in a line.

There are lots of other things to see in the lobby.

When it is time for the show, you will go through these doors.

Then you will show your tickets to the friendly helpers at the door who will give directions.

Before the show, you may need to use the restroom.

You will walk past a wall with Caterpillar faces on it. You may want to have your picture taken in front of it after the show.

Inside the theatre there are rows of seats.

Your ticket number will tell you where you are sitting.

This will be your seat for the whole show.

The Very Hungry Caterpillar Show is a theatre show, not a movie.

When you are in the theatre you will see a stage that looks like this.

There will be people on the stage telling you a story. They are called ‘performers’ or ‘actors’.

There will also be lots of puppets.

Some are big like Brown Bear.

Some are small like these rubber ducks.

Some are silly like this flamingo.

Some light up like the very lonely Firefly.

What other animals can you see?

When the show starts, it will be time to be quiet and listen. The lights will turn down a little bit – but it will not go too dark.

The performers will begin to tell you a story.

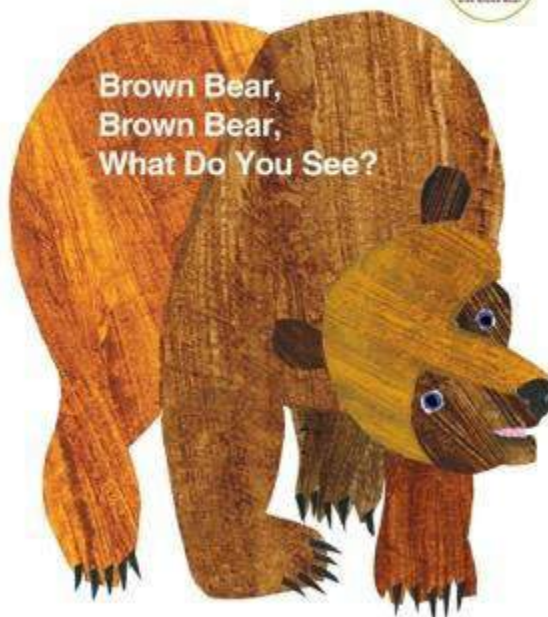

They will use words, acting, and lots of puppets!

The stories they will tell you are...

Bill Martin Jr / Eric Carle

and

When the show is finished, people will clap their hands to say thank you to the performers.

It's great fun to go to the theatre.

You will have a great day at The Very Hungry Caterpillar Show.
